DAY 5 FAILAKA ISLAND

Today we will take a ferry boat 20 kilometres to the island of Failaka. This remote island in the northern Persian Gulf contains a number of important archaeological sites dating from 4,000 years. The island's strategic location is close to the confluence of the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers. The island also played a role in modern history and endured a short period in trying to fend off the invading Iraqi forces in 1990.

Evidence of that brief battle can be seen on the island today in littered tanks and armored vehicles.

Our tour of the island includes:

- Archaeological ruins: The island has many archaeological ruins, including sites from the Dilmun civilization and Greek ruins. Some of the ruins are still being excavated hence entrance to this site is not permitted.
- Heritage Village: A reconstructed traditional village with houses, mosques, and shops that showcase Kuwait before the discovery of oil.
- Tank Graveyard: A collection of rusty Iraqi tanks and vehicles.
- National Bank of Kuwait: A bank that was set to open on the day of an attack and never did.

DAY 6 FLY TO MANAMA, BAHRAIN

Transfer to the airport to board your flight to Bahrain. Upon arrival we will check-in to our hotel and have lunch. We then start our local excursions.

Deserts are usually perceived as barren and uneventful places, where the passing of time is only visible through the ever-shifting sands. This is not the case, however, with the desert of Bahrain. Combining the luring temptation of the Arabian Nights with meaningful historic sites and adrenaline-infused activities, Sakhir is one of the most thrilling deserts you will ever roam. To unveil all its grandeur, our local guide will mark the route and excavate stories that will incite and amaze.

We begin at the Royal Camel farm followed by a visit to the first oil well in Bahrain. Later we will explore the Riffa Fort and the A'Ali Burial Mounds, a UNESCO World Heritage site comprising over 100,000 burial mounds dating from the Dilim-era over 4000 years ago. Finally we will visit the Tree of Life - a 400 year old tree standing alone in the desert without water. Lit up at night, it makes its existence even seem more mysterious.

Overnight in Manama, Bahrain

DAY 7 BAHRAIN SIGHTSEEING

Today will be spent further exploring this tiny island state. We begin with a visit to the Bahrain National Museum where we will trace the archaeological development of the region. Through sculpture and ceramics, reconstructed burial mounds, Arabic calligraphy and illuminated Korans, the different periods of Bahrain's history are presented.

We will also visit the Bahrain Fort. The first dwellings on the site are believed to have been constructed around 2800 BC, and have subsequently been overlaid by numerous fortified settlements. The last was built in the early 16th century to defend Portugal's recent acquisition of the islands; for this reason, it is also known locally as the Portuguese Fort.

We will also pay a visit to the Al Fatih Grand Mosque, Bahrain's largest mosque and a magnificent piece of architecture. On the Island of Muharraq we visit Sheikh Isa House, in the old town of Muharraq. This was once the home of the Amir's great-grandfather, Sheikh Isa Bin Ali Al Khalifa. It provides a fine example of local architecture, complete with wall carving and latticework, and representative of traditional 19th century life. The house is complete with a 'wind tower'; constructed 5-6m (16-20ft) above the house and open on all four sides. One of the early forms of air conditioning, this acts as a funnel, catching the breeze and drawing it down into the cavities below, as well as allowing the release of hot air like a chimney. Lunch at local restaurant.

No visit to Bahrain would be complete without a tour of the Old Souq, with its profusion of colors, sounds, and aromas. The souq lies in the centre of the old town, near the archway of Bab al-Bahrain and, although much of the surrounding area is modern, the street layout and division of occupations still follow traditional lines. All wares are sold, from cloth of different colors and textures to gold and jewelry as well as the traditional array of spices and local produce.

Overnight in Manama, Bahrain

DAY 8 TO RIYADH, SAUDI ARABIA

his wife Aisha – the house in which he was staying in at the time of his physical demise. Today, it forms part of the Masjid Nabawi complex and is arguably the most venerated tomb in the world. The graves are surrounded by several walls which have no windows or doors. Please note: Non-Muslims cannot venture inside the gates of the Prophet’s Mosque so we are confined to seeing this from outside the gates.

There are many sites that one can see in Medina. We will see as many as we can which may include Quba Mosque, Jannat al-Baqi (cemetery), Medina Bazaar, Mount Uhud, and Quba Castle depending on time.

This morning we transfer to the Hegra, also known as Madain Saleh, or Al-ijr, which is an archaeological site located in the area of Al Ula within Al Madinah region in the Hejaz, Saudi Arabia. The archaeological site of Al-Hijr (Madain Saleh) is the first World Heritage property to be inscribed in Saudi Arabia. Formerly known as Hegra, it is the largest conserved site of the civilization of the Nabataeans south of Petra in Jordan. It features well-preserved monumental tombs with decorated facades dating from the 1st century BC to the 1st century AD. The site also features some 50 inscriptions of the pre-Nabataean period and some cave drawings. Al-Hijr bears a unique testimony to the Nabataean civilization. With its 111 monumental tombs, 94 of which are decorated, and water wells, the site is an outstanding example of the Nabataeans' architectural accomplishment and hydraulic expertise.

Every day at six in the morning, the Buraydah camel market comes to life as vendors and buyers exchange riyals for camels, sheep, goats, and goods such as saddles and blankets. There are thousands of camels which are bought and sold daily within a 2-square mile area. We continue our journey traveling southeast with a stop for lunch on our route.

In the afternoon, we will drive to Jebel Fihrayn popularly known as "the Edge of the World", located 120km (75mi) from Riyadh. Standing atop the 1,000-foot high escarpment at Jabal Fihrayn, you find stretching before you an uninterrupted view of the horizon in all directions, leaving you with the impression that you are, indeed, standing at the very edge of the world. The effect on one's body and mind and soul is exhilarating. These cliffs rise dramatically from the desert, stretching toward the sky like a great natural wall. When you stand atop them and look toward the horizon, you have a prime view of the sky as it seems to melt into the barren earth.

Overnight in Riyadh

DAY 27 RIYADH SITES; FAREWELL DINNER

This morning, after breakfast, we visit Riyadh's Souq Al-Zal, a shopping trip through time. The market can trace its history back to 1901, to the beginning of modern Saudi Arabia. It sits within a stone's throw of the Masmak fortress – the site where, in 1902, where young Ibn Saud and a small band of his most trusted soldiers crept up after dawn prayers, rushed the gate, captured the governor, and announced the return of the Al Saud family. A treasure trove of traditional Eastern artifacts, the souq is one of the major tourist attractions in Riyadh. The word 'zal' means 'carpet' or 'floor rug', referring to the patterned textiles so central to Middle Eastern imagery.

Following our visit to the National Museum of Saudi Arabia which was established in 1419 as a significant part of the King Abdulaziz historical center in Riyadh. This very impressive and important museum showcases everything about Saudi history, the Saudi royal family and the formation of the kingdom.

The museum includes interesting examples of Arabian and Islamic art and architecture. Masterpieces include a prehistoric elephant skeleton, a huge meteor found in the Empty Quarter in the Saudi Arabian desert, rock graffiti from the Hejaz region backdated to pre Islamic era, a copy of rosetta stone, and an example of the Madaian Salah Rock-cut tombs.

After, enjoy a walk through the outdoor gardens of the National Museum park. We will then continue to the Hall of King Abdulaziz where there is an extensive showroom of old cars that were part of the King's collection. Continuing on, we will visit Muraba Palace - among the most important palaces built by King Abdulaziz that was built to accommodate his family. It was built in the traditional Najid style, by using local building materials only.

Tonight we will enjoy our farewell dinner and reminisce over your exploration of Qatar, Kuwait, Bahrain and Saudi Arabia!
