DAY 11 FIDEL CASTRO'S REVOLUTION, EL MORRO, GRANJITA SIBONEY TO MONCADA BARRACKS

Today we learn about Fidel Castro's Revolution, which is generally regarded to have begun on July 26, 1953. This is when Castro and a small group of rebels attacked the Moncada military barracks outside of Santiago de Cuba in an attempt to overthrow the Batista government. The attack failed and Castro was captured, tried, convicted and sentenced to 15 years in prison.

While incarcerated, Castro renamed his group the "26th of July Movement" and continued to coordinate its activities through correspondence. He and his compatriots were ultimately released in 1955 under an amnesty deal with the Batista government. Fidel traveled with Raul to Mexico, where they met the infamous Che Guevara, and continued to plan their revolution.

On November 25, 1956, Fidel, Raul, Che and 80 insurgents left Mexico aboard the ship Granma and landed in Orient province, Eastern Cuba. After being met by force, the surviving rebels fled to the Sierra Maestra Mountains to hide from Batista's forces. The revolution gained support, particularly in Eastern Cuba and gradually had successful campaigns, including the rebel attack on Santa Clara, led by Che Guevara in December 1958. Cienfuegos finally led the revolutionary army into Havana, seizing power on Dec 31, 1958. Batista fled Cuba and Fidel Castro ruled Cuba for almost 5 decades until he relinquished power to his brother Raul due to poor health in 2008.

We start our revolutionary day with a drive to Granjita Siboney Museum, the farmhouse used as the starting point for the failed assault on Moncado barracks. We depart from Granjita Siboney in vintage cars, just as the rebels did in 1953, for our drive to Moncado barracks. Feel free to shoot as much as you want (with your camera that is) at the barracks, which today has the dual roles of revolutionary museum and school. The exterior of the barracks still bears the bullet holes from the 1953 assault. Lunch on the private island of Cayo Granma, accessible by catamaran.

We take a short drive to the impressive San Pedro de la Roca Castle. Built in 1638, this fortress has guarded the entrance to Santiago de Cuba Bay from pirates, as well as the English and French. Enjoy a (typically) beautiful sunset, gazing out over the sea, land and mountains. San Pedro de la Roca Castle was declared a World Heritage Site by UNESCO in 1997, cited as the best preserved and most complete example of Spanish-American military architecture.

Overnight in Santiago de Cuba.

DAY 12 TO CAMAGUEY (UNESCO) VIA BAYAMO, EL COBRE

Today we depart for Camaguey (UNESCO). On our way we make a stop at the impressive El Cobre, the most important shrine for Cubans, and most famous church in the country. It is lodged in the foothills of the Sierra Maestra near the old copper mines that give it its name. The triple-domed church with the mouthful name of El Santuario de Nuestra Señora de la Caridad del Cobre, built in 1927, rises on Maboia Hill and is photogenically framed by green forest. The faithful come from across Cuba on pilgrimages to pay their respects to (and ask for protection from) a black Madonna, the Virgen de la Caridad (Virgin of Charity).

We continue our journey to Camaguey, with a few stops for rest and lunch.

Overnight in Camaguey.

DAY 13 TO HAVANA, VIA CIEGO DE AVILA & SANTA CLARA

Today we make our way back to Havana via Ciego de Avila and historic Santa Clara (site of Che Guevara’s Revolution).

Overnight in Havana.

DAY 14 COLONIAL HAVANA, FARMERS MARKET, COLUMBUS CEMETERY

This morning we start our day with a city tour and a visit to a farmer's market to learn about both the local diet and dual currency (including some of differences between CUC and CUP).

Afterwards we continue to the colonial center of Havana for a walking tour and lunch.

From here, we depart for the Columbus Cemetery (Cemetario de Colon). Colon Cemetery is one of the most important historical cemeteries in the world and is generally held to be the most important in Latin America in historical and architectural terms, second only to La Recoleta in Buenos Aires. Prior to the opening of the Colon Cemetery, Havana's dead were laid to rest in the crypts of local church catacombs and then, beginning in 1806, at Havana's newly opened Espada Cemetery. When locals realized there would be a need for a larger space for their community's dead (due to an 1868 cholera outbreak), planning then began for the Colon Cemetery. The 140 acre cemetery is noted for its many elaborately sculpted memorials. It is estimated that today the cemetery has more than 500 major mausoleums.

After our visit we transfer back to the hotel and you will have an afternoon of free time to explore the city, before our elegant farewell dinner in one of the most historic squares of Old Havana.

Overnight in Havana.

DAY 15 DEPART HAVANA

Our Cuban adventure concludes with a transfer to Havana Airport.
